peeing in the ocean while checking mentions (@pr0spector88)

i find it fascinating, yet still appreciably ironic , that craft beer companies are naming their beers after weed, to market to the guys who have been disenchanted with weed since they can just get it at the store now, Tinder date: if ur card gets declined again im getting...

Twitter